FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Enterprise Level Security Products Available to Home and Small Business User

March 3, 2010 – GO Consulting Services remains a leader in the field of surveillance technology. Most citizens know GO Consulting Services as a computer parts and services provider, but not as a major enterprise level surveillance service and parts provider. Today's technology consumer expects highly customized solutions, outstanding service and affordability.

One of the most useful and popular functions of a GO surveillance system is cellular phone camera viewing. Surveillance technology now allows for security cameras to be viewed live from any cell phone with 3G coverage. Business owners are now able to manage their business from a remote location or check in our worker safety as needed. "We have several business owners who use our product call us from out of town to tell us a camera had been damaged and needs to be repaired," said Chris Odneal, President of GO Consulting. A basic, networkable 4 camera surveillance system at GO starts under $1,000.

As the need for video surveillance rises in Shawnee and surrounding communities GO Consulting Services is well-equipped to handle any security situation no matter the size. If you are interested in learning more about video surveillance, products, services or application please contact Kevin Orsak at 405-214-6090 or come by the Home and Garden Show at Shawnee Mall or Shawnee Expo Center March 5-7, 2010.
