GO Consulting Services donates Fleet Surveillance Services to local city Government

June 30, 2010—In light of recent municipal budget shortfalls, GO Consulting Services recently donated systems integration services to the Tecumseh Police Department. The project included troubleshooting and repairing several police vehicle's surveillance, lighting and radar systems. The systems now work together to provide a higher degree of safety to the officer driving. GO's donation will ease the cost of maintenance tremendously for the department as well as usher in GO's new complete line of fleet integration products and services.

With the new addition of Scott Bachoffer, GO's Communications Specialist and technician they will be able to provide radar detection, vehicle surveillance, light bar, GPS and vehicle analytics services such as speed and distance of recent shifts. These products also work seamlessly on school buses, work trucks or any type of fleet vehicle.

GO Consulting services will continue to offer their services at little or no cost to local city government agencies to help ease the financial strain of maintenance and upkeep to fleet vehicles. The development of this program comes from GO's President and CEO Chris Odneal. "We are happy to donate our services to area city governments. We have a unique opportunity to give back to our community that has been supportive of GO over the last 3 years. We want to be a responsible corporation that has not only a business but member of the community." said Odneal.
